TWO CENTS

OUTBREAK OF SCARLET FEVER REPORTED FROM DAISYTOWN

Ten Deaths Have Already Taken Place and Many Ill from Disease

EPIDEMIC AMONG FOREIGNERS

Ten deaths have already resulted, and there are known to be twenty other persons suffering from the disease in the serious outbreak of scarlet fever at Red Hill and Daisytown, near California. The victims have all been claimed within the past two weeks.

With the situation really alarming, the Washington County Chapter of the American Red Cross is taking steps to do everything possible to prevent a further spread and give aid to those already suffering from the disease.

Executive Secretary J. Harrison Stein, of the Red Cross, located in Washington, D. C., is in Daisytown to survey the situation and is making an effort to secure nurses to tend to the two stricken towns.

Monday night it was reported that there were 17 cases of the disease at Red Hill and three more at Daisytown. All are in the homes of foreign families and this fact is proving a decided handicap to authorities and physicians endeavoring to check the spread.

Apparently not realizing the seriousness of the situation members of households are violating the quarantine laws, by leaving their homes to visit neighbors or go elsewhere.

Believing that the base ball players of Red Hill were the carriers of the disease to the mining communities every member of the squad has been placed in quarantine.

The disease appears to be of a particularly malignant type and in addition to the deaths which have occurred, several others are in a serious condition. The last death was on Sunday.

COFFER DAM IS ALMOST COMPLETED

It is expected that the coffer dam enclosing the outside lock chamber at No. 4 will be completed today, after which pumps will be installed and the chamber pumped out. A large amount of work will be done on this lock chamber, and when it is completed, the inner chamber will receive attention. In the meantime river traffic is not being unnecessarily delayed because of this repair work.

MAY POSTAL SAVINGS GREATER THAN APRIL

Fifty of the principal post offices of the country have postal savings deposits of $19,503,793, it was announced on Monday from Washington. The report is much more favorable than for April and according to the Post Office Department officials, indicated a renewed tendency on the part of the small depositor.

TIN PLATE PLANT DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire at an early hour this morning did considerable damage to the McKeesport Tinplate plant at Port Vue, a short distance south of McKeesport. The plant took fire from an adjoining factory, which was completely destroyed. After checking up the loss the tinplate plant expects to resume operations. It has been running almost full capacity, and its stoppage at this time will throw a large number of men out of work.

MILLAGE FIXED FOR NORTH CHARLEROI

The regular monthly meeting of the borough council of North Charleroi, was held Monday evening with all members, Messrs. Reed, Plasman, Wildman, Beaumariage, Burke, Simpson and Rockwell, present.

The treasurer's report showed a balance at the first of May of $964.59; collections $119.15; disbursements of $330.97, leaving a balance of $553.12. Council ordered the payment of bills to the amount of $439.23.

The report of the burgess showed fines collected during the month to the amount of $21.00.

An ordinance providing for the sewerage of Highland avenue and Long Alley passed final reading, and received the approval of the burgess.

An ordinance granting the United States Government the privilege of building an overhead bridge across the public wharf and constructing a narrow gauge railroad passed third and final reading and was also approved by the burgess.

The ordinance establishing the millage for the year 1921, making the rate for general purposes 15 mills and for sinking fund three mills, was passed finally and approved by the burgess.

Davis Woodward, tax collector, presented his resignation, asking to be relieved of the collection of taxes for 1921, but to make collections for the duplicate of last year. The resignation was accepted on these conditions, and council members will meet with the school board this evening, at which time it is expected a new collector will be elected.

The State Board of Health sent in a request that the borough renew its permit for running sewerage to the river. The engineer and clerk were directed to prepare the necessary papers and make the contract as provided by law. Council then adjourned.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at 7:30 in Municipal building. All ladies interested in the hospital work are requested to be present.

Federation of Women's Organization Completed

The federation of the Women's organization was completed last evening. Nine women's organizations thus far have come into the federation, and others may come in at any time upon the appointment of a delegate from their organization with the proper credentials. Each of these delegates hold office for one year, beginning June 1st of this year. The organization represented are as follows:

Mrs. D. F. Worthington, Ladies Aid.
Mrs. Jane Sharp, Pollyanna.
Mrs. B. C. McBride, L. C. B. A.
Mrs. C. M. Allen, W. C. T. U.
Miss Wake, Gothic Club.
Mrs. Enos, Ladies' Guild.
Mrs. Rosenbloom, Charleroi Hebrew Mother Club.

Mrs. Bruce Barnett, Francis Wilford Class.

Mattie Kelley, Isabelle Thoburn.

The above mentioned delegates, together with the Women's Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, composed of Mrs. F. C. Stahlman, Mrs. C. J. Mogan, Mrs. C. C. Wright, Mrs. W. B. Pfeighardt, Mrs. J. D. Berryman, Mrs. H. A. Heupel, and Mrs. R. G. Knight constitute the Women's Council. After the delegates had been selected at the meeting last evening, the Women's Council then held its first regular session and elected officers by ballot. Mrs. W. B. Pfeighardt was elected President of the Women's Council and by virtue of this office she also becomes the President of the Federation of Women's organizations, which includes all the women of all the organizations affiliated in this federation. Mrs. C. C.

Wright was elected first vice-president; Mrs. J. D. Berryman second vice-president; Miss Mattie Kelley secretary, and Mrs. P. C. McBride treasurer.

This council will meet on next Monday, June 13th, and in the meantime two committees will be at work. The first, known as the Committee on Waste Paper Receipts, consisting of Mesdames Allen, Pieper, Rosenbloom and Barnett; and the second, known as the Entertainment Committee, composed of Mesdames Wright, Sharp, Pieper and Miss Lambert. Both of these committees will report at the next meeting of the Women's Council.

The Committee on Waste Paper Receipts has been empowered to make a complete survey of the town and especially the business district in regard to the number of receptacles needed, the proper places to put them and to get the prices of different kinds of receptacles.

There are three hundred and thirty-two clubs in the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, making a total membership of 125,000 women. The local federation will eventually have at least 15 women's organizations with a membership of not less than a thousand members.

There is also a Pennsylvania State Federation of Women's Clubs of which Miss Florence M. Dibert is president. Almost every town in Pennsylvania has a local group of women affiliated with the State Federation.

There is also a National Federation of Women's Clubs of which Mrs. Josiah Cowles of Los Angeles is president.

ABANDONED AUTO FOUND IN SPEERS

Constable G. E. Andrews of Speers borough is in charge of an automobile which is "proving something of a puzzle to him. He would like to find the owner, but there is nothing about the machine to indicate who it belongs to, and he is holding it for the time being, in the hope that someone will come along and prove conclusively that the auto belongs to them.

The car in question, an Olympia five passenger, had been standing on the street in Speers for a couple of days, apparently abandoned. The license plates had been removed, the seats taken out and the battery removed. In this condition it was impounded by the officer, and he is now sending out "S. O. S." signals to any or all who may have lost a car in the hope of the rightful owner making his appearance, paying the necessary charges against it and take it away.

The machine, outside of the seats and battery appears to be in good shape. The tires are in good condition, and apparently the running gear is in good working order. It is the opinion of citizens of Speers that the car had been stolen and then finally abandoned by the thieves. The engine number on the car is P. M. M. A. 4115.

MORE BREWERIES MAY BE SEIZED

Beer "black" manufactured in Westmoreland county, may lead to the seizure of three more breweries there by Federal prohibition officials, it was reported on Monday. The Crescent Brewing company of Irwin was taken over last week for alleged violation of the Volstead act. Prohibition Commissioner Kramer is now considering action against three others for similar violations. It is charged several of the 19 breweries of the county have been making beer with a "jazzy" per cent of alcohol.

Under orders from Washington it is said Prohibition agents are making a close investigation of the activities of all of the 19 Westmoreland breweries.

MONESSEN HIGH IN CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Many Monessen people are in Pittsburgh this afternoon to witness the base ball game between Allegheny High and Monessen High, which is scheduled to be played at Tech Field. The result of the game will decide the baseball championship of the W. P. I. A. L. Allegheny defeated Wilkinsburg last week, and now meets Monessen in the final. These same teams played last year for the title, and Allegheny won the emblem. They will have the same pitcher they had then, and are ruling a heavy favorite to come through again.

TO MAKE ROCK BORINGS FOR PROPOSED NEW LOCKS

APPEALS FOR HELP FOR PUEBLO PEOPLE

The President of the United States has issued an appeal for immediate relief to be given the people of Pueblo, Colo., whose city was inundated twice by the waters of the Arkansas River on Friday and Saturday last. Hundreds of people lost their lives in the mad rush of waters, while millions of dollars' worth of property were destroyed. The President asks for an immediate response to the appeal, as the need is imperative.

FRANKLIN TEAM TO PLAY CHARLEROI

Weather permitting, Charleroi baseball fans will have an opportunity to see a real baseball team in action at the Charleroi ball park next Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Manager Mathers, of the local team, this morning completed negotiations whereby the strong Franklin team, made up of big league players will play the local team here, and the contest promises to be highly interesting.

With the Franklin team will be found Joe Harris, former first baseman with the Cleveland Americans; Steve Yerkes, who played second for the Boston Americans, and Scott Terry, who left the Philadelphia Athletics to join the Franklin team. In addition there are many other players well known to the followers of the game, all of them high class, and all well worth seeing in action. The game is being extensively advertised throughout this section of the valley, and Manager Mathers expects to see a large attendance.

The Charleroi base ball team of the Press league will play in Monessen next Friday afternoon. This game should give the locals some fine practice for the game with the Franklin team at the local park on Saturday afternoon.

E. J. Abrams has purchased the West End Garage at Lock No. Four from E. F. Beaumariage.

The P. H. C. will hold a moonlight picnic and dance at Oakland Park Tuesday evening, June 7th. Come everybody with well filled baskets.

Nos. 7 and 8 May be Constructed in New Locations and Larger

GREATER CAPACITY IS NEEDED

Rock borings are to be made for the tentative locations of Locks 7 and 8, Monongahela river, within a short time. No. 7 will be located a short distance above Greensboro and No. 8 about one mile above Point Marion.

These locks were originally built by the Monongahela Navigation company, and while they answered the purpose at the time they were erected, yet in recent years traffic on the upper river has grown beyond their capacity. The development of the upper valley will depend materially upon greater facilities at the locks, and with new structures at Nos. 7 and 8, located on modern lines, and with larger capacities, the needs of that district will be taken care of. A number of big steel companies are interested in the coal development of the upper valley, and it is anticipated that much of the product will be transported by water, hence the need for locks with greater capacity than the present structures. When these two locks were erected there was but little traffic out of the upper Monongahela, the packets furnishing most of the business. This condition of affairs has been greatly changed in these later years, with new mines opening and the product seeking an outlet by the river route.

NO EXTRA JOBS IN GASOLINE TAX

No fancy jobs will be created for the collection of Pennsylvania's new gasoline tax of a cent a gallon and after September 1 dealers will make their reports and payments as required or be arrested. There will be no squadron of state agents or investigators sent out after them. The machinery of the Auditor General's Department will be utilized. These facts were made known on Monday by Auditor General Samuel S. Lewis in announcing his plans for collecting the tax, which it is hoped in administration circles will yield $2,000,000 or more a year toward meeting some of the appropriations approved by the Governor.

Mr. Lewis has sent letters to all mercantile appraisers asking them to do a little extra work for the commonwealth by sending him the mercantile list as printed, with a red mark at the name of every seller of gasoline for retail purposes. This will form the basis of his collection scheme and appraisers will be asked to furnish him with new ones as they turn them up in their rounds of making the list. The Auditor General proposes to notify all sellers of gasoline of the law, and to have the reports and payments checked up, invoking

FOR THE COMMON GOOD.

In one of his many discussions of relations between labor and capital and incentives which aid in the world's progress, the late Colonel Roosevelt said:

"Normally, the wage worker, the man of small means, and the average consumer, as well as the average producer, are all alike helped by making conditions such that the man of exceptional ability receives an exceptional reward for his ability."

Col. Roosevelt might well have added that the world in general is helped by making conditions such that the man of exceptional good fortune receives an exceptional reward for his good fortune. It is not through ability alone that the world receives its onward and upward impetus. For example, a dozen mining prospectors of exactly equal ability may search through the same mountain ranges for deposits of valuable mineral. One of them, through good for tune, strikes the rich deposit. Experience has taught us that the welfare of all requires that the fortunate prospector shall be permitted to enjoy the rewards of his good luck, for, unless he be permitted to enjoy the rewards, other men in the future would not go searching for hidden minerals, and the latent mineral resources of the nation would be left undeveloped. It is probably true, as often asserted, that there has been more money put into gold mines than has ever been taken out; that is, the total output of the mines would not repay the total expenditure of time and money in searching for and mining gold. The hope of exceptional reward has been sufficient to keep men forever hunting for the Eldorado.

There are those who raise a howl of protest over the prospect that some one will make some money out of the development of our unused water powers. They see in private control and utilization of these water powers some sinister purpose detrimental to the general welfare. They cannot agree with the theory of Col. Roosevelt and with the experience of all the ages, that all the people are helped by insuring to the man of ability exceptional rewards in accordance with the results of his ability and efforts. Undoubtedly many a dollar will be sunk in ill-advised water power projects. Quite certainly, also many another dollar will return its investor a hundred fold because of the sound judgment exercised in locating a power site and in determining the character of power plant to be constructed. Without the hope of an exceptional reward no one of good judgment would risk his savings in the development of water power or in any other large enterprise which has its chances for failure as well as chances for success.

Russia is just now experimenting with the policy of depriving any and every man of the rewards of ability and effort. The results is discouragement of enterprise, with inevitable decline of industry and national wealth.

A PATH TO PROSPERITY

Revival of industry and recovery of prosperity in the United States wait chiefly upon two developments. One is the revival of domestic demand; the other is the improvement of foreign markets. The former is in a way dependent upon the latter, as domestic purchasing power cannot be recovered fully without foreign demand for American agricultural and manufactured goods, which will give farmers a profit and workmen jobs.

A moment's study of the reports of our diminishing exports for the last year will convince the most skeptical that the value of our staple agricultural products is below production costs because foreign countries are not buying them in any quantities to compare with two or four years ago. It will prove also that hundreds of factories are idle and hundreds of thousands of workmen are cut off from work and the income which makes prosperity because Europe is not purchasing their products.

This being the case it would seem only logical to regain and extend our foreign market by any legitimate methods within our power. Senator Edge of New Jersey, author of an Edge bank law, again points out one such method. His idea is to have American bankers lend money to foreign countries with the stipulation that it shall be used only for the purchase of American goods. Securities issued to provide such credits, he asserts, would be eagerly seized by American investors, large and small, in the knowledge that they would not only be making a substantial investment but would be contributing to their own prosperity through a revival of business.

Some such plan appears to be necessary. Our European markets are virtually paralyzed. They cannot get on their feet without our help. By helping them we help ourselves. Let the granting of large foreign loans without stipulation that the money shall be spent here merely allows our debtors to buy in great quantities from competitors of American industry. The plan outlined by Senator Edge keeps American money in America, but starts American goods toward world markets. It should have the support of our leading financial institutions and of our investors.

Hawaii sends a delegate to Washington elected for two years, Porto Rico sends a resident commissioner for four years, and from the Philippines come two commissioners elected for three years, but, though these may sit and listen in the House of Representatives, they can not vote. Our colonial dependencies are voiceless at Washington.

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE

The National Civil Service Reform League has issued a statement protesting against the ruling that the first three names on the eligible list must be submitted to the Postoffice department after examinations have been held to fill vacancies in offices of the first, second and third class. It is pointed out that under a Republican national administration, to get the National Civil Service Reform League going. While a former president of the league was engaged in emptying the postoffices and other public places of Republicans and "getting rid of" Republicans as rural carriers, city carriers, fourth class postmasters and in other places supposedly covered by the "merit system," this organization kept a discreet silence. It was not moved to protest when President Wilson "fired" the Civil Service Commission en masse for criticizing some of Postmaster General Burleson's manipulations of the "merit system."

Presumably the organization was deterred by the fact that one of its long-time honored members and leaders was busily engaged in handing out more patronage than any three of his predecessors ever had to dispense, with less attention to anything but partisanship than any President since Andrew Jackson. Now that a Republican President is in power we may expect that the National Civil Service Reform Association will be in a constant state of eruption, however far the administration may go in upholding the "merit system." The organization is interested primarily in the protection of job holders, and not in the protection of the interests of a public already suffering almost beyond endurance from the exactions of the professional bureaucracy built up under the federal "closed shop."

According to an enthusiastic Philadelphia editor, "it was a splendid thing for Charles M. Schwab to wear a 10-year-old suit when he addressed the American Iron and Steel Institute the other day and a still more splendid thing for him to have called attention to it." The splendor of the performance may be debated, but it must be conceded at once that any man is fortunate to have enough ready money to buy enough suits to keep one of them in presentable shape for ten years.

There can be no question as to the complete Americanization of Mrs. Jennie Hendrickson of Waterville, Pa., who, in explaining her rejection of a Swedish inheritance conditioned upon relinquishing her American citizenship, said she "would rather be a washwoman in the United States than an heiress in Sweden."

The strike of the British coal miners has its compensation for Londoners, lifting the dark smoke screen from that city and bathing it in pure sunshine, "for the first time in centuries," it is said.

So glad to see that you have opened a public forum. It will give us a chance to air our troubles.

Last Saturday evening there were fifteen or twenty automobiles parked between Fallowfield and Washington avenues, on Fifth street, where children dodging in and out and crossing the street. If one of these heavy trucks should lose control and come down Fifth street, as I have seen them, something might happen.

We seem to have various ideas of "equality." President Harding says it means to go to work, but that appears to be the least of our worries.

We have heard of the man who takes two bites of grass grow and the other bite is a public. While the man who takes one bite when he used to buy and charges twice the price per bushel.

The Old Dollar is Coming Back

Reports from various parts of the country indicate that the dollar is staging a come-back, with a promise of gradual return to its old-time purchasing power.

This is welcome news for all of us who have been wrestling with the cost-of-living problem.

It is welcome news also for the many people in this community who are saving wisely the time when the dollar will buy a full dollar's worth again.

So New and Fresh---and at New Low Prices

We might easily make the mistake of placing many of our dainty garments among our afternoon frocks.

This increase of attractiveness has come because women demand that the apparel of busy workday hours shall command the same self-respect as frocks worn during more formal activities of the day. These will prove most gratifying to you.

"THE TRUTH ABOUT HUSBANDS"

READ THESE THREE OF A SCORE OF PROTESTS RECEIVED AT THE MAJESTIC BECAUSE "THE TRUTH ABOUT HUSBANDS" HITS TOO HARD:

Manager Majestic.

Sir---It certainly seems a pity that husbands and fathers should be held up to the ridicule and disrespect shown in "The Truth About Husbands." Were the alleged "truths" confined to the one particular man in the picture it would not be so bad, but the statements are of a sweeping nature. For instance: "A male animal has life before he becomes a husband, and always SOMEBODY pays for the experience." Such a statement can only come from one who has spent a dissipated bachelorhood and thinks everyone else has done the same. To say that all men have before marriage entered into some liaison with a woman is too libelous and too false to pass unchallenged! Why not change the title to "The Truth About a Husband?"

Yours truly,

A FATHER.

Manager Majestic.

I feel it my duty to protest against your picture, "The Truth About Husbands." I realize that men are not perfect, that even my own husband has shortcomings, but I have tried to hide them from myself. After all, a wife doesn't mind what her husband has done before marriage, because she knows that it is the nature of the man. It's what takes place after marriage that counts. It is not the moral tone of the picture on which I protest. That could scarcely be better, it is the light in which it places all husbands. Every family has a skeleton in its cupboard---or else the wife is too blind to see her husband in his true colors---but why parade the skeleton in full view of the public? Please do this. Put on an explanatory title that the picture refers only to one man---not to all!

Sincerely,

"ONE WIFE."

Manager Majestic.

Please, don't show "The Truth About Husbands" at your theatre. I am to be married in June and know that my husband-to-be isn't perfect, but I love him. I know that my only chance for happiness after I am married is to appear astonished and grieved at his shortcomings---and then forgive him. Otherwise he would join riot.

Most girls know this about men, and love them despite it. But men don't know that girls know, or the grieved heartbreak that is the only check on them after marriage would be scoffed at by the husband. Can't you see what the showing of the picture will lead to? Men will see themselves in their true character and will know that girls have seen it too and have married them knowing the truth. Give brides a chance to keep up the subterfuge of trust which is the only weapon they can use on a decent-minded man.

Yours,
M. W.

TO THEIR REQUESTS WE MUST REPLY---

NO! NO! NO!

Smugly respectable husbands have been so accustomed to seeing pictures that "Name the woman" that they consider themselves far too virtuous to ever have weak moments of their own. It has shocked them to think any motion picture producer could find spots in their faultless attire.

We laugh at them.

Young wives and prospective brides are too enamored of their husband's or future husband's glory to see it eclipsed by a black cloud of truth.

We assure them time will tell.

Even some women living in Fool's Paradise for years are afraid to learn the truth.

They have our sympathy.

"THE TRUTH ABOUT HUSBANDS" IS FOR THE GREAT BODY OF WIVES WHO KNOW THAT ITS ASSERTIONS ARE ABSOLUTE FACTS; AND FOR THE MEN WHO ARE BROAD MINDED ENOUGH TO ADMIT THEIR FAULTS!

FORMER ENFORCEMENT OFFICER IS ARRESTED

Monongahela police on Saturday last, on a telephone message from Beallsville, held up a Dixie Flyer automobile at Park avenue and Main street in that town and arrested four of the occupants. The machine and occupants were taken to city hall, where an investigation was held. It developed that the machine belonged to W. C. Nicholas, a Pittsburgh transfer man, and that the occupants were his brother, Ed Nicholas, Nick Walker, L. A. Gardner and A. E. Kemmerling, a former prohibition enforcement officer of Pittsburgh.

The message received by the Monongahela police said the party was suspected of being bootleggers and police directed their investigation along that line. Walker and Nicholas were badly injured, they having met with an accident when a truck they were driving went over an embankment on the National Pike. They had been given first aid, but were badly cut and bruised.

Kemmerling stated the truck had delivered a large shipment of whisky to Masontown, and although he was not on duty he had accompanied the party, but not in any official capacity. It was after the booze was delivered and the truck had started on its homeward journey that the accident happened.

The police got in touch with Federal officers at Pittsburgh, and it was agreed that the injured men and the owner of the auto proceed on their way home but Kemmerling and Gardner were held for further investigation. Later officers came from Pittsburgh and took them back to the city.

When the car was searched two revolvers were found and a cartridge belt full of 44-calibre shells. It was said the gun belonged to Kemmerling who could not satisfactorily explain how he happened to be with the shipment of whisky.

BEFORE AND AFTER CHILDBIRTH

Mrs. Williams Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her in Health

Overpeck, O.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me both before and after my baby was born. I suffered with backache, headache, was generally run down and weak. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and decided to try it. Now I feel fine, take care of my two boys and do my own work."

I recommend your medicine to anyone who is ailing. You may publish my testimonial if you think it will help others.—Mrs. CARRIE WILLIAMS, Overpeck, Ohio.

For more than forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been restoring women to health who suffered from irregularities, displacements, backaches, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness or "the blues." Today there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been made well by it. That is why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for such ailments.

Placing of Furniture.

To make your friends at their ease in your home you must first make them comfortable. Many persons are embarrassed and put at a disadvantage, through no fault of their own, by careless arrangement of furniture. Items and footstools so placed as to trip the unwary make many an entrance so awkward as to spoil all pleasure from the start. A fragile table holding a costly Chinese lamp and placed too close to a lounge invites disaster.

The Seven Weeks' War.

The Seven Weeks' war was a brief war in 1866 between Prussia and Italy on one side and Austria and her German allies (Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Baden, Saxony, Hesse-Cassel, Hanover, Nassau) on the other. The war was the culmination of Bismarck's plan for forcing Austria out of the German confederation and making way for a new Germany under Prussian leadership.

Moon Insignificant in Size.

The smallness of the moon as compared with the earth is found by a mechanical journal's correspondent to be little appreciated. The diameter is approximately 2,100 miles, and on a map of the same scale the disc would be no bigger as with an apple, while it would correspond closely to the outline of the northwest shoulder of Africa.

Wonderful!

It was the terminal examination, and a budding philosopher concluded his essay on "Mother Earth" with this startling statement: "The earth revolves on its own axis three hundred and sixty-five times in twenty-four hours. The rapid motion through space causes its sides to perspire; this is called dew."

Microscopic Writing.

The British museum possesses a portrait of Queen Anne not much above the size of a hand, on which appear what seem to be a number of scratches. The scratches when magnified prove to be the entire contents of a book carried in the queen's hand.

The Oyster's Rival.

A novel industry, which promises rapid expansion in Canada, is the development of the sea mussel. The Dominion, with the co-operation of scientists, has proved that mussels can be produced commercially and sold profitably at a cheap rate.

Always Possible to Go Wrong.

Every great truth which inspires us, has a reverse side which warns us. It is well to keep before our minds the possibilities of right development, but we must not forget that we can develop in either direction.—Exchange.

Cement and Concrete.

There is something of a confusion in the public mind about the terms cement and concrete. Cement is the dry, powdered stone, but when it is mixed with an aggregate of water, and gravel or sand, it becomes concrete.

Habits Are Dangerous.

The ink used in printing the Bank of England note is of a peculiar blackness which no other ink can imitate. It is made by a secret process from charred husks of grapes and a secret oil.

Couldn't Use It.

Long-Lived Dollars.

The gold dollar had a long life. It was first issued in 1849, when the excitement over the California discovery was at its height, and was not discontinued until 1889.

"Wins the Wise to Praise."

Every heroic act measures itself by its contempt of some external good. For it finds its own success at last, and then the prudent also extol.—Emerson.

Heavy Ice.

By use of high pressure water has been converted into a new ice so dense and heavy that it sinks in water instead of floating.—The Arizonian.

Getting Something for It.

Most Remarkable Echo.

A wonderful echo can be heard in a room in the castle of Simonetta, near Milan. A loud noise, such as a pistol shot, is repeated 100 times.

WHEN HE LOST HIS LIBERTY

Pathetic Figure Presented by Lonely Man Standing Prominently Before Large Assembly.

He stood in the packing building, a small, lonely figure, pathetic in the isolation that shut him off from the warm humanity of the watching crowd.

He felt weak, ill, but he struggled to bear himself bravely. He could not move his eyes from the stern, white face that seemed to fill all the space in front of him. About that cold, minatory figure, which was speaking to him in such passionless, even tones, hung an atmosphere of awe, the traditional robes of office lent it a majesty that crushed his will.

He knew he was being addressed and strove to listen, says London Punch. His brain was a torrent of thoughts. And so his life had come to this. It was indeed the final catastrophe. That was surely what the voice meant—that voice which went on and on in an even stream of sound without meaning. Why had he come to this—in the flower of his life to lose its dearest gift, liberty?

Up and down the spaces of his brain thought sped like fire. The people behind—did they care? A few, perhaps, pitied him. The others were indifferent. To them it was merely a spectacle.

Suddenly into his mind crept the consciousness of a vast silence. The voice had stopped. The abrupt cessation of sound whipped his quivering nerves. It was like the holding of a great breath.

He gathered his forces. He knew that the huge concourse waited. A question had been put to him. It seemed as if the world stood still to listen.

He moistened his lips. He knew what he had meant to say, but his tongue was a traitor to his desire. What use now to plead? The soundlessness grew intolerable. He thought he should cry aloud.

And then—"I will," he said, and, looking sideways, caught the swift shy glance of his bride.

WOOD THAT WILL NOT ROT

Experiments Made in France Have Demonstrated the Great Value of the Mangrove.

The wood of the mangrove tree, which flourishes in French Guiana, is being exploited in France as a wood which will not rot. At least it has withstood all exposure and efforts to break down its fiber in years of experiment by the officials of the French railway service.

Every one of the many samples which were subjected to all the known processes of inducing decay, behaved faultlessly, and it would seem that the wood is so close as practically to exclude moisture. Its density, indeed, is placed at 50, as against 40 in fir and 70 in oak.

In addition to this closeness of fiber the mangrove has an unusually large amount of tannin in its composition. This protects it from invasion by insects. It also prevents the multiplication of various worms, and is a specific against such wood maladies as mold, damp and the like.

It has other desirable qualities. For instance, tests show that while it is not brittle, it presents twice the resistance to flexation that oak does. It has about the same potency against crushing or twisting.

The temple was the religious edifice of the Jews in Jerusalem. There were three buildings successively erected in the same spot, and named after their builders—the temple of Solomon, the temple of Zerubbabel, and the temple of Herod. The first was built by Solomon and was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar about 586 B. C. The second was built by the Jews on their return from the captivity (about 537 B. C.), and was pillaged or partly destroyed several times, especially by Antiochus Epiphanes, Pompey and Herod. The third, the largest and most magnificent of the three, was begun by Herod the Great, and was completely destroyed at the capture of Jerusalem by the Romans (A. D. 70). Various attempts have been made toward the restoration of the first and the third of these temples, but scholars are not agreed in respect to architectural details.

Crow a Feathered Outlaw.

The crow has but few human friends, and possibly none outside its own family. Even its feathered neighbors do not care about it. Crows seem, however, to esteem each other's companionship, judging from the fact that a crow is seldom seen alone. They do their day's work, be it good or bad, in groups; they spend considerable time holding meetings by thousands, and they travel in somewhat army fashion.

Crows are neither admired nor loved. Hundreds of birds have been given honorable places in literature, but if the crow is introduced, it is usually for the purpose of adding one more melancholy feature to a melancholy scene.

Some Try It.
